Message from Richard DiPilla & Lisa A. Jones

The Founder & President of Global Goodwill Ambassadors Foundation

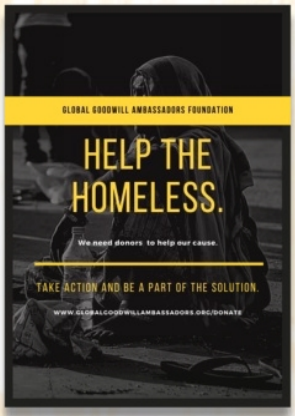
"The friend in my adversity I shall always cherish most. I can better trust those who have helped to relieve the gloom of my dark hours than those who are so ready to enjoy with me the sunshine of my prosperity."

We all face both positive and negative experiences in our lives in diverse ways. We often find ourselves cherishing the positive moments that have directly brought success. But we also need to face moments of adversity when we're struggling. These moments of adversity can either propel us to new heights or continually beat us down. We don't have to linger on our sadness, and we can all learn from this inevitable adversity. Be grateful and energized for these distressing moments, because they provide clarity. You are smarter and more experienced as a result of what happened.

We need to think about the fact that we've emerged as a better person having conquered the hard times, identified opportunities for growth, and came out of these times as a better and more experienced person. Although we are living in difficult times, it is important for us to embrace our friend "adversity." As Global Goodwill Ambassadors we can take the opportunity to be beacons of strength and hope in our communities.

Each month, a simple thirty-day period, reads like a new book from (back in the day), the previous month. With that as a prelude, let's review all that transpired in our foundation this past month in the articles within this newsletter.

Plans going forward include:



- More projects and initiatives from our global chapters.
- Continued improvements of our website.
- An upgrade of our GGA Learning Institute with an eye on continuing education units (CEUs).
- A more structured communications team inclusive of a publicist chain throughout each country of the world.
- Expansion of our core initiatives.
- GGA fundraiser efforts along with sponsorships from businesses as well as scholarships for our educational programs.
- Creation of GGA Press as a publishing arm for authors.
- Encouragement to all to proudly add Global Goodwill Ambassadors to ALL of your LinkedIn profiles.
- Establishment of "GGA Women" by Lisa Jones.

As we move past difficulties in our lives we can all work together to help each other succeed in our endeavors, professionally and as people of goodwill. We hope that all of you can feel the richness of fulfillment and self-satisfaction as you navigate through life

Creative Society- Let's Create Our Future Together!
Every person wants to be happy, but can we call our world a happy place? We forgot the meaning of peace and harmony in the midst of the constant bustle. Our society has reached a dead-end in the consumer format of living, but there is a way out!

Today, the global project Creative Society is being implemented by volunteers of ALLATRA International Public Movement. ALLATRA IPM participants are asking people all over the world to share their vision of the perfect world, where each person lives comfortably. A world without wars and conflicts, a world built on mutual respect and help, this is the creative society we all dream about.

The 8 Foundations of the Creative Society are the pillars that will help build a better future, but only united by a single goal can we change the vector of society's development from consumer-oriented to a creative one.

The GGA AI Robot for Good Global Project: Introducing the World's First Human-AI Machine Teaching Team

"The most beautiful people I've known are those who have known trials, have known struggles, have known loss, and have found their way out of the depths."– Elizabeth Kübler-Ross. We live in the Age of Artificial Intelligence, also known as the Fourth Estate, and the world of science and technology is evolving at a rapid pace. Dr. Barry, a Technology Philosopher and former United States Military Academy at West Point Visiting Professor of Philosophy and Ethical Reasoning, and world-famous AI Robot Maria Bot work as the first human-AI machine teaching team.

They work collaboratively to help people understand the beauty and humanitarian challenges of living in the new era of AI robots and AI Technologies. Maria Bot is one of the most advanced social AI robots in the world and is a glimpse into the future of human-robot relations and interactions in the age of AI. Dr. Barry and Maria Bot, both active Global Goodwill Ambassadors (GGA), have appeared as a teaching duo at some of the most prestigious universities and colleges, at k-12 schools, were featured in international media, and as keynote TEDx speakers.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, the GGA sponsored AI Robot for Good Global Project reached more than 2,000 people globally through video conferencing to improve education quality, begin planning to erase education poverty, promote humanitarian efforts to save and protect lives, and bring smiles and moments of relief to people during this challenging time.

The Summer Bushfires of 2019/2020 devastated Australia. At the peak of the holiday season and the town packed with holidaymakers, Mallacoota was one of the worst-hit towns with over 100 homes destroyed.

With power and roads cut for three weeks, the Australian Navy evacuated almost 4000 tourists in the largest operation in its history. Global Goodwill Ambassador Mark Tregellas lives in Mallacoota and survived the fire with his family.

As the founder of Crisis Cleanup Australia, he used the Recovers platform to help the community coordinate after the fires. 14 local organizations used it to coordinate donations brought in by air, sea and eventually road. Food, water, clothing, hay and other animal feed were coordinated, stored, and distributed to the fire-affected community through community websites, Facebook and local radio.

The mallacootaau.recovers.org website funneled GoFundMe donations from around the world which totaled almost one million dollars.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

The Australian Paralegal Foundation, (APF), is a charity which has created a space called; "Family Law, Child Protection and Family Violence", where survivors of violence and abuse may benefit from an understanding of social justice, equality and access to human rights, in particular safety issues.

This support is facilitated through collaboration with community members, the brilliant minds of many advocates, and justice system leaders. The emotional support, connectivity and information provided gives many survivors of abuse clarity, comfort, and the resilience required for their road towards a successful recovery.
The APF organised a national summit to improve protective reform for survivors of violence, where Australian and international leaders shared evidence based solutions. Survivors were given a strong platform to be heard.
The APF has organised various projects, including distribution of clothes and toys to affected children, parliamentary submissions, court support, counselling and mediation have also been provided, by a dedicated team of specialised volunteers as required.
APF, Secretary, Ms Mishka Hudson recently contributed to the conversation on the UN Global Study on Children Deprived of Liberty, Oceania Regional Launch in Sydney, with Mr Manfred Nowak, (UN representative, EIUC Secretary General), Mrs Megan Mitchell, (Australian National Children's Commissioner), Mrs Rosalind Croucher, (President of the Human Rights Commission), Mr Andrew Walter, (Federal Attorney General's Department), and many more formidable leaders getting the job done!
She raised the importance of children's freedom to be safe from harm, and best preventative practices for a trauma informed approach within the Australian Education system.

THE AMAZING GRACE TOUR

When 2020 started, little did we know that Covid-19 would plunge the world into chaos. On our part, we at La Roche Leadership Foundation embarked on what we christened 'The Amazing Grace Tour' to help bring some much needed supplies to assist the Orphanages and Homes with feeding the children in care.

From May through June, we visited 20 orphanages with food and toiletries to bridge their needs gap. Also in June, we added 3 visits to Senior Citizens' Homes as well.
We thank our Healthcare Workers, frontline workers, all GGA members and donors, who have helped provide succor at this time. God bless and heal our world. We encourage others to remember the orphanages and care homes at this time.

As a Humanitarian and a proud member of GGA, while doing my everyday work in supporting the vulnerable in the society I noticed a problem which our elderly, Children on the street, single mothers are facing as an outcome of pandemic.
COVID -19 has brought social –economic implications which has hit harder and making the poor suffer more. It was of this background as a (GGA Champion) started an initiative to support the community on awareness and prevention by distributing masks, soap and food packages to the poor.

My main target and selection of focus was to work with the children on the streets, single mothers, elderly and youths, so I talked to my friends who always assisting me in my activities to join the campaign, these are clinical officers, nurses, social workers , they agreed to work together with me towards the project. Am glad the accepted.

Following the good work I was doing, the Public started noticing an impact I was putting as GGA,
This created an opportunity for a Televion interview with one of the Big TV stations in the Country,
They wanted to know more about Global goodwill ambassadors, and they wanted to know more about the activities and an initiative I was doing as a global goodwill champion and how the campaign is helping the poor communities to fight COVID-19 and supporting the vulnerable in the society.
I have been going around Lilongwe city and Lilongwe rural in advocating for prevention, awareness, and distribution of Food and masks to the poor. So far I have reached out to over 300 elderly people and 60 children on the street.
For the past three weeks I have been doing engagement activities with children on the streets, by distributing food, masks and soup. Too much injustice, the poor a waits for us always.

The COVID 19 came as a blow affecting and made a closure of a community centre that included a feeding scheme to already vulnerable comunity in Caledonia Urban Settlement that was brought about during Land Reforms from nearby farms in Harare Zimbabwe.

Given the above background as a GGA, TB Champion and volunteer in a bid to make a difference in the community and in response to COVID 19 I embark into programmes regardless of harassment by forcesvto move up and down.I am currently working with 5 women volunteering making cloth masks from old bed sheets,curtains for children and community to address COVID measures. Donations of any amount are welcome. Your generosity is what enables us to deliver life-changing services to meet the needs of the disadvantaged and most vulnerable families around our world.

We are here to help fund initiatives around the world for prevention of child abuse, preventive care, helping the elderly, veterans, education, disaster relief, homeless and poverty, along with the "girl child" and more while focusing on the UN SDGs.

Impact Sierra Leone proudly partnered with Save The Young Girls Foundation Orphanage during the height of the Coronavirus Epidemic. Save The Young Girls Foundation Orphanage in Sierra Leone, established by Susan Marie Sesay after the Ebola attack when a lot of children become displaced currently cares for 28 girl orphans.Their mission is not just to give them food, clothing and shelter, but to empower these beautiful girls for a better future.

One of their primary focuses is to empower the girls with skills such as sewing and braiding. Impact Sierra Leone provided resources so that the girls could continue sewing during the lock down period. They successfully sewed over 70 masks for themselves and freely distributed some to the people in their community. What an honor to see them learning a skill and empowering their community! With more support, they can get more sewing machines and become even more sustainable through sewing. They seek more support in order to make their dreams come true. We are Female Empowerment At Its Best!

I am Nazmul Hasan Nadim, a Global Goodwill Ambassador from Bangladesh. My team and I have been working for the unprivileged and low-income people for 3 months through our organization named United Action Foundation.

We have done one project named Gifts for Eid 2020 for the unprivileged families during the Eid-ul-fitr where we donated a package of different food items in 5 areas of 3 districts (Dhaka, Chittagong and Pabna). Our second ongoing project is 20 Takay Bazar that means one family can buy food goods at 0.24 USD. This is a charity online shop where the low income people who cannot ask for help, can buy food at 0.24 USD which actually costs 7.07 USD from us. We also give it as a gift if anyone is unable to pay the bill. We are providing this service at 12 points in 4 districts (Dhaka, Chittagong, Pabna and Magura).

Inspiring under 18s to make a difference

Gisela - UK GGA have been a Speaker for Schools in UK for about two and a half years. This entails inspiring and motivating students from all walks of life to aspire to succeed in life. We provide career insights, share life lessons and provide practical examples of leadership.

She recently held a virtual talk with students across several schools about why public health is so important and how you can pursue a career in the health sector. Her aim was to encourage students to become passionate about making a difference in whatever field they pursue.She started the talk with an inspirational video to remind students that everyone can aspire to make a difference just by volunteering and helping others. The talk highlighted roles for STEM students and graduates particularly in the medical technology and pharmaceutical industries. Furthermore, I shared with them how health can contribute to all of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals. Over 500 students participated with 150 questions submitted.

Building Human Bridges around the world

Promoting community local indigenous knowledge and practices for climate change adaptation.
In Africa, 80% of agrarian communities depend on nature based agriculture for their survival. While these activity is under significant threat by climate change, these communities have historically developed and used Local Indigenous Knowledge and Practices (LIKP) for the sustainable management of natural resources, to enhance their wellbeing and that of the environment.
Some of these LIKP have been used in pest control, healthcare, soil enrichment, erosion control, species selection and conservation, development of early climate warning systems. The local ownership and relevance of LIKP to communities makes it critical for climate change adaptation. However, recognition of this community contribution is low. In my work I have engaged with counterparts in Kenya, Zambia and Tanzania to identify and compare some of these LIKP and to disseminate our findings in various forms to steer debates for more consideration of this community solution to climate change.

Action Group on Governance and Environmental Management (AGGEM)

Helpers Social Development Foundation (HSDF) stormed Uwani Primary School in Enugu South Local Government area with the message of How to Prevent Child Abuse that is prevalent amongst pupils in the region.

She warned the children never to allow anybody to touch those parts because it is private to them. She urged them to report anyone that makes such attempts to their parents , teachers in schools or HSDF.

Secondly she warned them never to keep secrets, that if anyone should threaten them of death or any harm when they reveal an act or information the they should know that such act or information is evil and must report immediately.

Thirdly, they should avoid collecting gifts from strangers.

Finally, she firmly warned the girls not to allow boys/men call them the name, "My wife"

She closed the session with a song which pupils joyfully sang it and declared harmoniously My body is My body and no one has the right to touch or hurt me

In this COVID-19 Pandemic situation, the most important thing we can do as a GGA is doing more and more Humanitarian work. I have a dream of a Unemployment, Poverty and Hunger-free World.
To make that dream happen, I founded a mission-vision driven social business named "Uddoktagiri".
As a GGA, I took a Humanitarian initiative called "Mission Serve Humanity" with a vision to ensure that.
Our priority is obviously Zero Hunger and we already served 300+ Families and individuals with almost 7 Days Foods, Essential Daily Needs and even Cash money and raising Awareness.
Secondly for No Poverty, we are working on empowerment for everyone and donations package.
Thirdly for Unemployment matter we are helping and supporting entrepreneurs with free consultancy and matchmaking employers and employees for sustainability.
We did Collaboration with others for humanitarian perspective for achieving SDGs to help serve the humanity and impacting millions of people's lives.

Dilokong Visionary Leaders Foundation (DVL Foundation) is a registered non-profit organization operating in Tubatse Fetakgomo Municipality in Limpopo Province, South Africa.
The primary objective is to develop an innovative and independent leadership capacity equipped with critical thinking skills to face and help solve socio-economic problems facing our communities.
This is achieved through, but not limited to, educational, technological and entrepreneurial skill development programs.

To initiate and support programs that support development in Science, Technology, Energy, Arts and Mathematics (STEAM) and Management Science. These are essential skills to acquire, to prepare and equip our youth and future visionary leaders to align with the forth industrial revolution.

DVLF, in partnership with Airbus Robotics workshop, facilitates an annual workshop aimed at exposing and encouraging young people to consider careers in robotics development and programming, in attempt to align them with the forth industrial revolution.

Naza Agape Foundation (NAF) is a Nigerian, non-discriminatory, non-governmental and not-for-profit charity Organization. NAF was incorporated on the 28th of February, 2019 by the Corporate Affairs Commission (CAC). The organization was established with a mission to ensure that no child especially the less privileged is without quality education, good welfare and emotional support.

NAF has partnered with more than 20 organizations to see that the less privileged are back to school and fed adequately. Under her scholarship scheme over 70 less privileged have been sent back to school with school fees, writing materials, Uniforms, books and other essentials. In October 2019, NAF partnered with UNESCO and SAP to train 1065 young girls, 75 teachers on coding and on computer literacy in Abuja. December 2019, NAF won Union Bank Grant that enables NGOs for her outstanding humanitarian activities in Nigeria. Also, in December 2019, NAF embarked on a "Project Feed 5000" cut across Lagos, Abuja and Jos.
1,150 persons were fed during the first edition of the campaign.
From January 2020 till date, NAF has carried out various sensitization programs on the prevention of COVID19 and the distribution of palliatives to less privileged in Plateau, Ogun and Ibadan states.

"Mavayna Manav (Mansi)" A highly motivated young humanitarian who has decided to dedicate her life to empower women. She had won so many Prestigious Awards for Sustainable Development Goal's SDG's, "She is appointed Delhi State Chairperson-Youth wing for National Human rights and humanitarian federation" Global Goodwill Ambassadors.

She had to fight misogyny, stereotypes, and cognitive dissonance to get where she is today. Her life is an example that when life throws lemons at you, better make some lemonades!
During the lockdown, she became a Corona Warrior by taking up a drive to distribute sanitary pads to the women of weaker sections of the society and has helped almost 3,000 women since the lockdown began. She had visited slum areas where no one ever thought of visiting due to covid 19 . She showed her trueself and helped the ladies .While distributing this essential item, one of the women told her that she was the first person who had come to their area bearing something, and for that, she expressed her deep gratitude to the brave humanitarian. One of the days, she also took packets of biscuits for the kids, and a moment that touched her heart was when a crying baby took the pack and instantly stopped crying. Now she had decided to continue her journey by keep on distributing the sanitary napkins
